The Aruba 3200XM is a direct replacement for the 3200 and represents a superset from a functional and performance perspective.

We currently expect to be accepting final orders through January 31, 2012, however this final date will depend on the continued availability of stock and, at Aruba's discretion, the actual end of sale date may be earlier than January 31, 2012. End of support for the product is January 31, 2017. We strongly encourage you to transition all backlog and new business to the Aruba 3200XM as the recommended solution.
